Sextantio Albergo Diffuso, Italy

The Sextantio group specialises in bringing abandoned Italian villages and dwellings back to their former glory. At Albergo Diffuso – literally 'scattered hotel' – in the mountains of Abruzzo, two hours east of Rome, a hamlet that had fallen into disrepair has been revived, extending to the local traditions of soap-making and wool-spinning, both now thriving once more. For more information, visit designhotels.com.
